CANDIDATE REFERRALS

COMU receives recommendations of potential candidates from a variety of sources, including current board members, MPs and government agencies. If it appears that a referred candidate might match a skill set that COMU is seeking in a particular appointment, they may be approached immediately, with a view to being invited to join a specific appointment process.

All candidates who are referred to COMU, from whatever source, will have the opportunity to join the database.

Current and former board members provide a unique resource for COMU. COMU will be familiar with the skills and experience of each board member and on occasion that knowledge has been used by COMU to source candidates. Many board members are members of professions, or have experience in particular business sectors, which provides COMU with the ability to make use of board members’ networks in identifying candidates with specific skills.
