Budget Ministers

COVID-19 Response and Recovery

Agenda

1. Fiscal Outlook and Strategy

2. COVID Response and Recovery Fund

- Response framework
- Spending so far
- Recommendations to Cabinet for Budget, including infrastructure
- Issues for further work and next steps

3. Treasury Proposal on Fiscal Stimulus

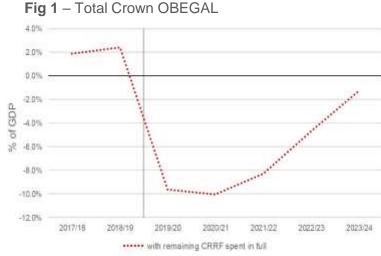

Executive Summary

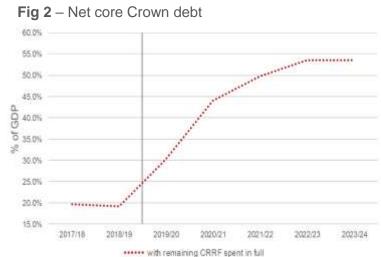

- COVID-19 has significantly weakened the Government's fiscal position, however our strong starting position means if necessary there is scope for net core Crown debt to increase beyond the current levels forecast.
- Our focus continues to be on fighting the virus, cushioning the economic blow, and kickstarting the economy for recovery, with a focus on jobs, training and supporting recovery plans for the most effected sectors.
- I seek your agreement to a package as part of the previously agreed COVID 19 Response and Recovery Fund to be considered by Cabinet on 11 May. This includes a tagged contingency for future infrastructure development.
- This package focuses on support for job creation, training/education, exports and sector recovery plans.
- This package is not designed to be the final say in our response. There will be future funding rounds from the COVID Response and Recovery Fund in the coming months as we continue to implement our economic response and rebuild.

Fiscal Outlook & Strategy

- The Treasury's fiscal forecasts included in the Budget Economic and Fiscal Update 2020 shows the operating balance before gains and losses (OBEGAL) remaining in deficit over the forecast period and net core Crown debt rising to 30.2% in 2020 to 53.6% of GDP at the end of the forecast period.
- These forecasts take into account all COVID-19 response measures up to 20 April 2020 and assumes the COVID-19 Response and Recovery (CRRF) is spent in full by the end of the forecast period.
- The fiscal position is entirely appropriate given the once in a century shock and unprecedented response required.

COVID-19 Response and Recovery Fund

- The CRRF was established by Cabinet on 6 April, with $50 billion set aside to manage the fiscal costs of our response to and recovery from COVID-19. This is on top of the Economic Response Package of $12.1 billion announced on 17 March.
- As at 30 April around $14.1 billion has been allocated from the CRRF, with spending aimed to support the health response, support employment attachment, increase resources for the vulnerable and support businesses' access to finance.

Decisions for Consideration

- Significant Government support will be required to deliver our overall economic response to COVID-19.
- The initial decisions that I propose consider taking to Cabinet are focussed on the first two phases of our economic recovery strategy:
 - Wave 1, fighting the virus and cushioning the economic blow to households and firms during the containment phase; and
 - Wave 2, positioning the economy for recovery. It involves measures to stimulate recovery and the regrowth of economy activity.
- The overall measures for discussion at Cabinet total $9.8 billion, which if agreed would leave around $25 billion to be allocated in the future.

Package to support the recovery and position for long-term transition

- The current draft package stands at $9.7 billion operating and $3.8 billion in total capital over the forecast period.
- Components are set out in the table opposite.

Package of measures to support the recovery and position for long-term transition

- The core of the initial draft package of measures under the CRRF are under the following areas is grouped by reflecting the priorities as set out in the Coalition Government's Our Plan. We will reorganise proposals into packages for communication purposes.
- The flagships of the package are around a commitment to apprenticeships, trade training, employment opportunities through conservation, waste and primary industries, infrastructure, housing and support for business.
- The sector packages include areas that have been dramatically impacted by COVID 19, such as health, media, arts, sports, racing and events.
- The full list of proposals is attached. Some additional proposals have been submitted after the lists were provided to parties for consultation last week. This includes the Racing Recovery Package (included), further support for regional development and additional support for the health sector.
- A Tourism Recovery package is under development. I strongly believe that this needs to be part of our announcement on Budget Day. I seek your agreement to further develop that for Cabinet on the 11th of May.

Infrastructure Investment

- Investment in new infrastructure projects will help support the longer-term economic recovery. There have already been significant infrastructure spending recently been committed:
 - NZ Upgrade Programme $8 billion in projects proceeding and a $4 billion increase in the multi-year capital allowance
 - Budget 2020 $3.6 billion of new capital expenditure was agreed by Cabinet in April
 - Ministerial bids around $600 million of capital expenditure is being considered as part of CRRF process for 11 May
- To support the economy I propose a $3 billion infrastructure tagged contingency to be funded from the CRRF.
 - This will include the projects chosen, with Cabinet agreement, from the Industry Reference Group rociess With specific projects to be selected in a subsequent CRRF process
 - Project bids (including from Defence, NZIST could be received from departments and agencies, alongside the IRG work
- The complete list of IRG recommended projects will be received later in May.
- An important focus in the short-term is ensuring current projects resume at pace the broad-based support for businesses and employees, RMA fast-track consenting legislation, and construction sector initiatives are helping to achieve this.

Proposed 'Housing' Package

- Supporting New Zealanders' access to housing as well as supporting the residential construction sector as we emerge from the crisis is critical to prevent homelessness and improve housing affordability.
- This draft 'Housing' package totals $670 million operating expenditure to support $5 billion of building through the Kainga Ora borrowing programme and investment in Community & Transitional Housing Providers. This is funded through Kainga Ora's borrowing facility and therefore is not accounted for in the CRRF.
